The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

To the PUBLIC.

THE Committee of the incorporated Swediſh Churches of Wicacoa, Kingceſſing, and Upper Merion, beg Leave once more to addreſs the candid Public, in Anſwer to Mr. Bankſon's Paper of the 5th of Auguſt. The Reader will pleaſe to recollect the State of our Diſpute with that Gentleman; which is briefly this, and was not begun by us, but by Mr. Bankſon himſelf, in a moſt abuſive Attack on the Character of our Miniſter, for no other Reaſon, but having hinted his Suſpicions, that Mr. Bankſon had not fairly ſettled his Accounts concerning the Church. Our Miniſter made a ſhort and modeſt Reply to this, acknowledging that he had thoſe Suſpicions, and that they could only be removed, by a fair and full Settlement on the Part of Mr. Bankſon.

The Veſtry, at the ſame Time, in a full Meeting, ordered an Anſwer to Mr. Bankſon, in which they took the whole Matter on themſelves, declaring that it was not the Doctor alone that had thoſe Suſpicions, but they themſelves had much Reaſon to entertain the like Suſpicions, as Mr. Bankſon for fifteen Years, though often called upon, had never ſettled his Account properly, or to their Satisfaction.

A Committee was then appointed, to make the proper Replies to Mr. Bankſon, if he ſhould chuſe to proceed in this Diſpute, and it is hoped the Papers we have publiſhed, appeared cool and fair in the Eyes of impartial Readers; while Mr. Bankſon, on the other Hand, has been very abuſive of us, and our Miniſter, for adhering to our Duty, and diſcharging our Truſt to the Congregations.

There will always be Suſpicions againſt the Party that gets angry firſt in Diſpute: Mr. Bankſon might have made ſhort Work of the Matter; He had only to render a fair Account, and we had done. For whenever a Man declines or refuſes to account in any Caſe, when properly called upon, he lays himſelf always open to the moſt unfavourable Impreſſions.

In ſhort, we have hitherto met with nothing but Evaſions and Miſrepreſentations in Mr. Bankſon's Papers; and his laſt Shift was to pretend, that the Papers publiſhed againſt him, were not genuine, nor by Authority of the Veſtry, becauſe the Names of the Committee were not ſubſcribed to them, though at the ſame Time he well knew all the Members of the Committee, and that the Papers were publiſhed by them.

In order therefore to leave Mr. Bankſon no Objection whatever, we deſired a Meeting of the Veſtry to be called; in which, at a full Board, every Thing done by the Committee was unanimouſly approved, and the following Minute was made, and ordered to be publiſhed and ſigned by the Name of the Clerk. Mr. Bankſon, it is to be hoped, having now no further Plea to offer, will neither give the Public nor us further Trouble, but leave his Accounts to be ſettled in the Manner propoſed, and whatever the Iſſue may be, it ſhall be made public, if he deſires it.

EXTRACT from the Minutes of the Veſtry of the incorporated Swediſh Churches of Wicacoa, Kingceſſing and Upper Merion.

At a Meeting held at Wicacoa, Auguſt 5, 1767, relative to the Diſpute between the ſaid Veſtry and Mr. Andrew Bankſon.

1. THE firſt Anſwer to Mr. Bankſon, publiſhed by the Committee in the Name, and by the Order of the whole Veſtry, was read, and found to agree exactly with the Original, entered in the Veſtry Books.

2. The Committee, who had been appointed to manage the Diſpute with Mr. Bankſon, and to defend the Character of our Miniſter againſt his injurious Attacks, then reported, that they had been under the Neceſſity, as a Committee, to anſwer two different Publications of Mr. Bankſon, which, as printed in the Pennſylvania Gazette, Journal, and in the Chronicle, were laid before the Veſtry, and being read, were declared to be agreeable to Truth, and to the Sentiments of the Veſtry, and as ſuch ordered to be entered on the Books of Record.

3. The Committee then laid before the Veſtry another Piece of Mr. Bankſon's, publiſhed July 25, 1767, full of Abuſe againſt the Veſtry, and their Committee, and groſly miſrepreſenting the Affair of the Forty Pounds, which he had unjuſtly charged againſt Doctor Wrangel; the Veſtry therefore deſired that a circumſtantial Account of this whole Affair, drawn up by the Doctor, ſhould be read, which was as follows.

" When Mr. Bankſon, after finding he could no longer delay " his Accounts, firſt appeared with them in Veſtry, he openly " told the Board, that the Doctor had received Two Hundred " Pounds too much. It appearing ſtrange to the Veſtry, that " Mr. Bankſon, as Collector of the Church Money, ſhould, " without Order, have paid ſuch a conſiderable Sum more than " was due, and the Doctor declaring that he had not received " it, a Committee was appointed for ſettling Mr. Bankſon's " Account with the Doctor, the Veſtry chuſing two of their " Members, and the Doctor two more for this Service; which " Committee was quite different from that appointed to ſettle " Mr. Bankſon's general Account with the Church.

" When the Committee met, they found an Account ſtated " for Mr. Bankſon againſt the Doctor, by his Friend. At this " Meeting therefore, truſting to the ſaid State of the Account, " the Committee, on examining the Doctor's Receipts, which " were produced as Mr. Bankſon's Vouchers, looked only at " the Bottom of that Receipt of the Doctor's, where " £ 42 : 10 : 6 was added by another Hand in Figures; but " did not read the Body of the Receipt. The Committee ac- " cordingly charged the Doctor with that Sum, and a Certifi- " cate was given to Mr. Bankſon, with a Balance in his Fa- " vour.

" Some Time after, at a Meeting of the Veſtry, Mr. Bank- " ſon's Friend having ſhewn this Account to the Doctor, he de- " clared that it muſt be entirely wrong, it appearing to him " altogether improbable that there could be ſuch a Balance in " Mr. Bankſon's Favour. Upon which the ſaid Friend (but not the " Committee, as Mr. Bankſon alledges) undertook to re-examine " the Account, and confeſſed, in a ſubſequent Meeting of the " Veſtry, that he had been miſtaken, on which Occaſion the " Receipt was produced, in which Four Pounds Ten Shillings and " Sixpence, had at firſt, by Miſtake, been written in Words; but " the Word Four was eraſed, and the Word Two inſerted.

" Now it cannot but ſeem ſtrange, that from this eraſed Word " Four, and the added Word Two, that followed it, any Perſon " ſhould read Forty-two, and add it in Figures at the Bottom, " thus charging the Doctor with Forty Pounds more than the " Receipt. Mr. Bankſon ſays, that the Figures at the Bottom " were not his writing, and ſurely they were not the Doctor's; " yet how ſhould any Body put theſe Figures at the Bottom of a " Receipt in Mr. Bankſon's Book, without his Knowledge? It " ſeems trifling to charge this Miſtake to any of the Committee, " or to any other Perſon whatſoever. It ſeems more trifling " ſtill in Mr. Bankſon, to pretend he could not underſtand a " Receipt taken by himſelf, for it ſeems once to have been " ſufficiently intelligible to him, as in his Book he has charged " this identical Sum £ 2 : 10 : 6 againſt the Doctor, without " any other Receipt, but this ſingle one, which was likewiſe to " paſs for £ 42 : 10 : 6."

The above Paper, given in by the Doctor, having been read, the Veſtry were perfectly ſatisfied, by many of their Members, who remembered the whole Tranſaction, that it contained a fair State of the Matter, and two of the four, who were of the Committee for ſettling Mr. Bankſon's Account with the Doctor, being now preſent in this Meeting of Veſtry, declared likewiſe, that what is abovementioned concerning their Proceedings, is ſtrictly true.

The Veſtry now proceeded to conſider what was further neceſſary to be done, and it was unanimouſly reſolved, that this Day's Minutes of Veſtry be publiſhed, and ſigned by their Clerk, and that in this Publication they acknowledge as follows.

Firſt, That the firſt Publication in their Name, was their deliberate Act and Deed, unanimouſly conſented to, and approved of by them.

Secondly, That the two Anſwers, publiſhed by their Committee, are approved by them, and to be conſidered as their Act.

Thirdly, That the Public be made acquainted, that although the Committee had not thought themſelves at Liberty to accept of Mr. Bankſon's Propoſal, of leaving his Accounts to indifferent Perſons, yet the Veſtry, to evince their Love of Peace, and their Deſire of a fair Settlement, and to leave Mr. Bankſon no Pretext whatſoever for declining a Settlement, do agree to Mr. Bankſon's Propoſal, and will permit his Accounts to be ſettled by any two impartial Members or Veſtrymen of the Church of England, in this City, one to be choſen by Mr. Bankſon, and one by our Veſtry, with Liberty for the ſaid two to chuſe a Third, in caſe they ſhould not agree in the Settlement between themſelves.

A true Copy from the Minutes of Veſtry,

JOHN HARRISON, Clerk of the Veſtry.

There was alſo ſtole the night following, out of a houſe in the neighbourhood, ſuppoſed to be by the ſame perſon, a 40s. beaver hat, and a pair of channelled pumps. He told me his name was Archibald M'Capel, born in Ireland, can ſpeak good Engliſh and broken Dutch, is about 5 feet 6 inches high, ſandy complexion, pitted with the ſmall-pox, had long black hair, but talked of cutting it off. Had on, when he went away, an old felt hat, check ſhirt, a ſhort green thick cloth jacket, double breaſted, with metal buttons, lined with white flannel, and ſtriped linen trowſers, and old ſhoes, one with a buckle to it, the other tied. CADIZ, May 5.

THE laſt advices from Gibraltar, and thoſe from Larache of the 19th ult. inform, that a Corſair of the King of Morocco, commanded by the Rais Omar, a Portugueſe renegado, hath taken a French brigantine on its voyage from Marſeilles for one of the French ports of Ponent, laden with oil, cotton, ſoap, &c. This act of hoſtility, at a time when the two ſtates are at peace, alarms the merchants. It is poſſible that the Rais may be ignorant of the treaty having been ſigned. However that may be, there is no doubt but the Marquis de Breugnon, ambaſſador from France to the King of Morocco, will make ſtrong complaints thereof, and reclaim the ſhip and cargo.

Paris, May 30. They write from Rennes, that ſeveral members of the nobility of the ſtates of Britanny were taken up in the night between the 20th and 21ſt inſtant, by virtue of Letters de Cachet, and ſent to the Caſtle of Pierre-Enciſe.

Warſaw, May 27. The Prince Primate, in his anſwer to the Deputies ſent by the Confederation of Thorn, when they had their audience, ſpoke as follows:

"We take in very good part the deputation ſent us by our brethren, fellow patriots, and fellow citizens incorporated, and declare it welcome. As firſt Senator, I wiſh your propoſal, and the reſolution of the three orders of the kingdom, may agree together; and as firſt Paſtor of the kingdom, I intreat you to regard concord as the principal object."

Vienna, May 30. The laſt letters from Conſtantinople, which are dated the 2d inſtant, adviſe, that the plague is broke out again in ſome parts of the city, but that the ſuburb of Pera is not afflicted with that terrible diſtemper; that the Grand Signor has cauſed ſome perſons, guilty of perjury, to be ſtrangled, and has hanged an Armenian Merchant, who uſed to countenance theſe people, and even lodge them in his houſe; that the Mufti, who is the head of Religion and Law, has been diſmiſſed by the Grand Signor, for amaſſing riches by means inconſiſtent with his character, and his place ſupplied by Axaſſade Veli Effendi, who has twice before been in that high ſtation.

Thorn, May 28. The Diſſidents, who have confederated here, have ſent a manifeſto to the Grod of Kowalewe, by which they declare, that though it is by no means their intention to interrupt the courſe of juſtice, they will not ſuffer any of their body to be ſummoned before any tribunal of this Province or Kingdom.

Genoa, May 30. We have received information, that the contrary winds have obliged the Genoeſe Veſſels to abandon the coaſt of Capraia, and to put into Porto Ferrajo. Three pinks continue nevertheleſs to cruiſe between Macinaggio and Capraia; but the ſucceſs of their operations is rendered very doubtful, the Sieur Ottoni, commandant of the fort of Capraia, having given his word to ſurrender the place, if he was not relieved within three days, which term is elapſed.

Warſaw, May 30. Letters from different parts of the kingdom, and from Lithuania, all agree, that a great number of confederations are formed; that the greater part of them are not at all againſt the Diſſidents, but againſt the preſent adminiſtration of public affairs, ſo that they are called Confederations of Malcontents. The whole of Lithuania, conſiſting of 24 diſtricts, is actually confederated. The facility with which theſe confederacies are formed is ſurprizing; that in the province of Siradia was immediately and eagerly ſigned by about 900 gentlemen. All theſe commotions indicate nothing favourable to the public tranquility, unleſs the approaching Dyet find means to appeaſe the ſtorm.

LONDON.

June 6. A letter from Paris, dated May 15, ſays, "The Marquis de Courtenvaux, Captain of the King's Swiſs Guard, and Honorary Member of the Royal Academy of Sciences, has fitted out a frigate at Havre, on board which he is to embark immediately, to go and ſail along the coaſts of Holland, the northern coaſts of Germany, and perhaps thoſe of England. The principal object of his voyage is to make trial of ſome clocks and inſtruments, deſigned to facilitate the determination of the longitudes by ſea, and particularly the watch of the Sieur le Roi, and the Megametre, or grand meaſurer, of the Sieur de Charnieres. The Sieur Pengre, regular Cannon, and late Librarian of S. Genevieve, and the Sieur Meſſier, Aſtronomer of the Marine, will accompany the Marquis de Courtenvaux, who ſet out on the 12th laſt for Havre."

They write from Peterſburgh, that a letter from the Empreſs of Ruſſia has been publiſhed there, dated at Moſcow, the third of March laſt, and addreſſed to the Preſident of the Academy of Sciences, by which her imperial Majeſty expreſly recommends, 1ſt, That the Academy cauſe exact obſervations to be made of the Paſſage of Venus over the Sun's Diſk in the year 1769. 2dly, That they point out the parts of the Empire the moſt advantageous for making thoſe obſervations. And, 3dly, That if there is not a ſufficient number of Aſtronomers in the Academy for this purpoſe, they employ the moſt expert Mariners that can be got.

Extract of a letter from Marſeilles, dated May 1.

"Signor Romanzo, the Corſican Courier, has been among us theſe ten days paſt. The Duke de ---- having ſaid ſomething very impertinent againſt the Britiſh nation, and particularly againſt a great perſonage, the generous Corſican told him, that the Britiſh were a nation of men, and their King the beſt Prince in Europe. He ſaid this with ſuch an emphaſis, and ſo indignant a look, that the Duke thought proper to call him out, and they fought behind the ramparts. The Duke was ſeverely wounded, but Signor Romanzo eſcaped unhurt. This affair has done him great honour with every body. C'eſt un beau coup cela pour prendre conge, ſaid a colonel of the Gens d' Armes. M. Romanzo is preparing to embark, on his return to Corſica."

June 9. Letters from Chatham mention, that orders are received at that yard, to take his Majeſty's ſhip Monmouth, of 64 guns, to pieces, being judged unfit for further ſervice. This ſhip was eſteemed the beſt ſailer in the whole navy, had a principal ſhare in the actions fought by the Admirals Anſon and Hawke, againſt the French in the bay of Biſcay, when commanded by that brave officer, the late Admiral Harriſon, in the war preceding the laſt; was in the late war in ſeveral actions, commanded by the Captains Gardiner and Harvey, the former of whom was killed on board, when engaged ſingly with the Foudroyant of 80 guns. She never gave chaſe to any ſhip that ſhe did not come up with.

We hear that a certain Iriſh nobleman and his lady went laſt Thurſday to Dunmow in Eſſex, in order to claim the gammon of bacon, which, according to the cuſtom of that manor, is given to thoſe who ſwear that they repented not of their marriage within a year and a day after the celebration thereof. This is the firſt time that perſons of their rank have laid claim to it. It is therefore hoped that many more lords and ladies will ſoon follow the example, and thereby reſcue matrimony from the contempt it now ſuffers in the faſhionable world.

June 11. Laſt week a milk man was ſummoned for not paying his ſervant her wages. The gentlemen who ſat in Court, aſked him the reaſon why he would not pay the wages due to her? To which he made anſwer, ſhe would not get up in the morning. The girl then aſked the Court, if ſhe might be heard in her defence? which being granted, ſhe ſaid ſhe did not know what time her maſter expected her to get up in the morning, as ſhe was always up time enough to heat 36 quarts of water againſt her maſter brought home 30 quarts of milk to mix with it, and rub the ſides of the pails with ſnails to make the milk froth, as if juſt come from the cow; upon which the Court ordered Mr. Nick-and-Froth to pay the girl her wages, and diſmiſſed the cauſe, to the ſatisfaction of all preſent.

Letters received at Conſtantinople from Cairo adviſe, That on the third of March laſt, being the ſecond feaſt of the Bairam, the day on which all the Beys and other officers of the city repair to the caſtle, to compliment Hamſey Pacha, Governor of Egypt, about 60 perſons, moſt of whom belonged to Grandees, who have been ſome time in exile, having formed a deſign of aſſaſſinating ſeveral of the Beys now in poſt, got into the Pacha's hall of audience, diſguiſed, and well armed: But the Emir Hatch, or Conductor of the Mecca caravan, having obſerved among them ſome ſuſpicious movements, he ſignified the ſame to the other Beys; one of whom, on his taking leave of the Pacha, received a piſtol ſhot, which tore away part of his jaw. On this all the Beys had recourſe to their ſabres, fought their way through, and deſtroyed the conſpirators. One Bey remained dead on the ſpot, others were dangerouſly wounded, as were alſo ſeveral principal officers. After this bloody ſcene, wherein many lives were loſt, the Government ordered the Pacha to be depoſed, which was done the ſame day; and thoſe of his Officers who were ſuſpected to have favoured this plot, were baniſhed. The Janiſſary Aga has ordered many of the grandees of Cairo, who were diſcovered to be accomplices therein, to be puniſhed.

Laſt week at a chriſtening at Widaker, near Whitehaven, of the 21ſt child of Mr. Wright, by the ſame woman, the company came from 21 pariſhes, and the entertainment conſiſted of 21 pieces of beef, 21 legs of mutton and lamb, 21 gallons of brandy, three times 21 gallons of ſtrong ale, three times 21 fowls roaſted and boiled, 21 pies, beſides ſeveral hams, a great number of puddings, &c. &c.

Extract of a letter from an Engliſh Traveller, dated Rome, May 22, 1767.

"Among the Jeſuits who came to Civita Vecchia, were many French Jeſuits, who had quitted France, on the extinction of the Order in that Kingdom; and ſeveral Noviciats, who, though not obliged ſo to do, would follow the fate of their Brethren.

"The Pope had many motives for not receiving thoſe Perſons. It is the firm opinion here, that Naples, Parma, and, probably later, Germany, will follow the example of Spain, and drive out the Jeſuits from their States. If the Pope had received the Spaniſh Jeſuits, he could not with a good grace refuſe to receive theſe other; and his Treaſury is not in a condition to ſupport ſo extra a number of Idlers.

"It is believed here there will be no rupture; though the family compact had operated ſo far, that in the caſe of it, and that the Spaniſh Miniſter had quitted Rome, the French Ambaſſador had orders to quit it likewiſe."

They write from Senegal, that 18 Pirates having attempted to board a French ſlaving ſhip on the African coaſt, near Cape St. Mary's, their veſſel was ſunk by the ſhot of a ſix pounder, which killed ſeveral of them, and the remainder were hung up by the French at the yard arm.

They write from Liſbon, that it was expected the company of Merchants trading to Fernambucco, in the Brazils, would ſoon be diſſolved, and the commerce thither laid open to all his moſt faithful Majeſty's ſubjects.

June 13. A French ſhip, arrrived at Cadiz from the Canaries, brings advice, that thirty-three Jeſuits, who were on board a French ſhip bound to Buenos Ayres, which ſtopt at thoſe Iſlands, were arreſted there, together with nine of their fraternity, who were ſettled in the iſlands, and who inhabited three different houſes. It is not above twenty years ſince the ſociety formed a ſettlement there.

Orders are given, that for the future, the packets which carry over the Weſt-India mails, do ſtop at Madeira, for the more ſpeedy correſpondence to and from the ſaid iſland.

Letters from Warſaw, dated May 23, ſay, "To-morrow is fixed for opening the Senatus-Conſilium. Moſt of the grandees are arrived, but at the ſame time it is to be obſerved, that ſeveral of the principal are gone home; ſome of them even without taking leave of the King. The cauſe of ſo unexpected a departure is not known; but it is remarked, that the grandees in general differ greatly with reſpect to the manner in which the approaching diet ſhould treat the cauſe of the Diſſidents, and anſwer the declarations of the powers who intereſt themſelves in their favour."

"They write from Naples, that the court being deſirous of ſubjecting all the foreign conſuls who reſide there to the juriſdiction of the royal tribunals, of which they have hitherto been independant, his Sicilian Majeſty hath cauſed this reſolution to be notified to them, and ordered at the ſame time the arms of their Sovereigns, which are placed before their houſes, to be removed; but as this innovation is directly contrary to the treaty of commerce concluded in 1753, between the King of the Two Sicilies and the States General, and particularly to the 31*ſt article of that treaty, the conſul of Holland hath refuſed to ſubmit to theſe orders, adding, that he will inform their high mightineſſes thereof, and wait their inſtructions on this ſubject.*"

June 16. They write from Paris, that on the 24th ult. the King ſent for the Firſt Preſident to Marly, in order to make known to his Parliament the neceſſity there is for prolonging the ſecond Twentieth-penny; and at the ſame time his Majeſty gave him a note, to be communicated to his Parliament, ſetting forth the preſent ſtate of the finances.

Wedneſday laſt the following extraordinary affair happened at Craven-hill, near Kenſington Gravel-pits. An elderly gentlewoman, who lived with her daughter, dreamed on Tueſday night that ſhe was dead; on riſing next morning, ſhe communicated the ſame to the ſervant that attended her, and to the reſt of the family, with certain aſſurance that ſhe had not long to ſtay in this world, although then as well and hearty as for years paſt, but on her ſon's going out of the room, ſhe called him to ſtay, or he would not any more ſee her alive; when on his returning, ſhe inſtantly dropped down, and expired immediately.

Letters from Bourdeaux, dated May 15, ſay, "As the froſt has done great damage to our vineyards, ſo has the drought to our cattle and corn. There has likewiſe broke out at Ambares, a village in this neighbourhood, an epidemical ſickneſs, whereby ſuch as are ſeized with it, are inſtantly deprived of their ſenſes, and thoſe of the ſtrongeſt conſtitutions ſeldom live longer than two or three days. The Parliament has appointed two phyſicians, and two ſurgeons, to examine into the nature of this ſickneſs, and make their report with all expedition.

The force of paternal affection appeared lately very ſtrong at Paris; a fire having broke out there in a houſe where three children lay aſleep, the unhappy father made his way to their room, through the midſt of the flames, thrice ſucceſſively, and brought them all off, without ſeeming in the leaſt ſenſible of his danger, or the leaſt betraying ſymptoms that he felt himſelf hurt, though, when he brought off the laſt, his hands, feet, legs, &c. were burnt in a terrible manner.

June 18. In the Vienna gazette, the portrait of the late Empreſs Conſort, is drawn in the following terms: "Meek, pious, compaſſionate, affable, obliging! She was never known to ſwerve a moment from the principles which thoſe united qualities had deeply engraved in her heart. Thoſe who had the honour to be attached to her, had in her a miſtreſs whom they ſerved more through inclination than duty.--- The poor always found in her a mother ready to relieve their diſtreſſes, and the world conſtantly beheld in her an example of virtue. She has endured, with a courage and reſignation worthy of the greatneſs of her ſoul, and of her piety, the terrible malady which has brought her to the tomb; and during the whole courſe of it has given proofs, equally admirable and moving, of that heroic tranquility, which religion only can inſpire."

"The parliament have not obtained the end propoſed by their remonſtrances preſented to the King, on the affairs of Britanny; his Majeſty having given the following anſwer to the firſt preſident, and to the two preſidents à mortier; "I have already made known to my parliament "my intentions on the ſubject of their repreſentations; they ought to "rely on my wiſdom and goodneſs relative to objects which do not con-"cern them."

BRISTOL, June 6. Laſt Monday as the conſtables of Caſtle Precincts were in ſearch of a quantity of ſtockings, ſtolen a few nights before, their ſuſpicion led them to the houſe of John Langford, night-watchman, in the Quakers Friars, where they diſcovered, concealed in a box, one Jane Bryan, a girl about 18 years of age, a ſpectacle indeed! being almoſt ſtarved, and quite naked. It appeared, that ſhe had been a lodger in the houſe near 20 months, but had not been confined to the narrow limits of this box (which is about 30 inches long, and 18 broad) more than eight months, during which time ſhe has been often without ſuſtenance for three days together. The poſition ſhe was obliged to lie in (for ſhe is tall) has ſo contracted her limbs, that they are at preſent quite uſeleſs, and perhaps ever will be. They alſo found in the ſame houſe, a young woman quite naked, and with only ſhavings to lie on. She lived at ſervice in this city, which ſhe left on being with child, and fled to this place for ſhelter. Both theſe deplorable creatures were carried to St. Peter's hoſpital. Langford and his wife were ſecured, and the daughter has been ſince; but the man pleading ignorance of the whole matter, and the girl confirming it, he was releaſed.

Edinburgh, May 23. Thurſday laſt the general aſſembly of the church of Scotland met here. On this occaſion his Majeſty's high commiſſioner, the Earl of Glaſgow, made a grand appearance. His Grace, after hearing a ſuitable ſermon by the Rev. Mr. Hamilton, their former Moderator, the venerable aſſembly removed to the Aſſembly-houſe, in the New Church, and made choice of the Rev. Mr. Muiriſon, Principal of the New-College at St. Andrew's, to be their Moderator. His Grace opened the aſſembly with an elegant ſpeech from the throne, to which the Moderator made a very ſuitable return. His Majeſty's moſt gracious letter to the aſſembly was then given in by his grace, and read with all due honour and reſpect; which is as follows.

GEORGE R.

"Right Reverend and well beloved, we greet you well. The knowledge we have of your loyalty and affection for our perſon and government, and the many proofs we have from time to time received of your conſtant and zealous endeavours for the advancement and encouragement of virtue and piety, affords us the moſt pleaſing hopes of the continuance of ſo laudable a conduct; and it is with the greateſt ſatisfaction that we take this opportunity of repeating to you thoſe aſſurances of our royal ſupport and authority, which you have ſo truly and deſervedly merited by your ſteady adherence to the diſcouragement of vice and immorality, and to the advancement of true religion, ſo eſſential to the welfare and proſperity of our people.

"Convinced as we are of your prudence and firm reſolution to concur in whatſoever may promote the happineſs of our ſubjects, it is unneceſſary for us to recommend to you to avoid contentions and debates, as well as to avoid any thing that may tend to diſturb that harmony and tranquility, which is ſo eſſential in councils ſolely calculated for the ſuppreſſion of every ſpecies of licentiouſneſs, irreligion and vice. And as we have the firmeſt reliance on your zeal in the ſupport of the chriſtian faith, as well as in the wiſdom and prudence of your councils, we are thoroughly aſſured that they will be directed to ſuch purpoſes, as may beſt tend to enforce a conſciencious obſervance of all thoſe duties, which the true religion and laws of theſe kingdoms require, and on which the felicity of every individual ſo eſſentially depends.

"We have already had ſo many proofs of the fidelity, zeal, and attachment of our right truly and right well beloved couſin, John Earl of Glaſgow, that we have again made choice of him to repreſent our royal perſon in this aſſembly; and as you have ſo often had experience of his affection for you, and of his conſtant attention to the true intereſts of his country, we are perſuaded that this nomination will be conſidered by you as a freſh mark of our favour. You may be aſſured, that the Preſbyterian Church of Scotland, as by law eſtabliſhed, will always meet with our ſupport in the full enjoyment of their rights and privileges: And we are convinced, that the ſame wiſe conduct, which has ſo often manifeſted itſelf in your former meetings, will be exerted on the preſent occaſion, and that cordiality, unanimity, and brotherly love, will attend all your proceedings, and be the means of ſecuring a happy and ſatisfactory concluſion of this preſent meeting of the General Aſſembly. And ſo we bid you heartily farewel."

Given at our court at St. James's the 23d day of April 1767, in the 7th year of our reign.

By his Majeſty's command, CONWAY.

BOSTON.

Auguſt 24. On the 19*th Inſtant, a very ſad affair happened at Wrentham Weſt Pariſh, viz. Between the hours of two and three in the afternoon, while people were generally attending public worſhip, the houſe of Mr. Benjamin Rockwood appeared to be on fire, and was ſo ſuddenly conſumed, that nothing could be ſaved out of it; the out buildings were with difficulty preſerved. Several apparent circumſtances gave ſuſpicion that ſome evil-minded vagrant had ſet it on fire purpoſely; care was taken the night following to way-lay the roads and bridges, where it was probable the plunderers might paſs in their eſcape: Thoſe who watched in one place, had the ſucceſs to take one Thomas Cook, a notorious Thief; but none of Mr. Rockwood's effects were found upon him. Thoſe who lay in wait at another place, had the chance to head a Man on horſe-back, in paſſing a bridge: He appeared to be loaded with plunder, and had a formidable club in his hand; but ſoon perceiving his danger, he turned ſuddenly about, and eſcaped their hands. On Monday morning the woods thereabout were diligently ſearched, and a horſe was found, not far diſtant, with Mr. Rockwood's ſaddle upon him, and a bundle of ſtolen goods, carefully depoſited under a log: The horſe is well known to be the ſame which one Daniel M'Keney was ſeen in the poſſeſſion of on the Saturday evening before.*

In the Schooner Sultana, which ſailed a few days ago for London, went Paſſenger one ----- Gibbons, who had been a Soldier upwards of 16 Years, and lately diſcharged from Col. Dalrymple's Regiment at Halifax, by an order from the Secretary at War, and arrived laſt Week in the Packet from thence: He is ſaid to be going home to take Poſſeſſion of an Eſtate that has fell to him by the Death of an Uncle, conſiſting of 7000 l. Sterling, in Caſh, and an Income of 3000 l. like Money, a year.

We hear the Whale Fiſhery off the Weſtern Iſlands is like to turn out very ſucceſsful this Seaſon, two Veſſels having returned from thence to the Cape with upwards of 300 Barrels each.

PROVIDENCE, Auguſt 15.

Yeſterday a few gentlemen in this town made a great feaſt for the poor.---There was a general invitation of all the objects of this liberality, beſides a ſpecial invitation of many. A hog of 120 lb: half a ſheep, and a lamb, were barbicued, and other proviſions made ready. The entertainment was made at a pleaſant place called Carpenter's Point, at a ſmall diſtance from the town. A number of poor perſons appeared, and behaved themſelves with great ſobriety and decency. They were firſt ſeated, and plenty of good proviſions, dreſſed in the beſt manner, was ſet before them, and after invocation of the Divine Majeſty for a bleſſing, they were ſerved by the authors of this charity, and other gentlemen and ladies of diſtinction. Afterwards the reſt of the people who were preſent, dined; firſt the men and women, and then children and ſervants. A number of gentlemen, being well-wiſhers of the deſign, came voluntarily to this entertainment, bringing with them ſuch ſupplies for the furtherance of the good work, as they thought would be for the comfort of the poor, and their own refreſhment. The whole was conducted with prudence, modeſty, chearfulneſs, and order; and at evening each returned home in peace.

N. B. The deſign and generoſity of thoſe private gentlemen, in giving the above entertainment, is well worthy of imitation, as it is following the advice of our bleſſed SAVIOUR.--- "But

Auguſt 22. The poor people, who were entertained at the late feaſt of charity in this town, on the 14th inſtant, beg leave to take this public manner of expreſſing their gratitude to the authors of the bounty.----They eat and drank, and were filled.---- The proviſions were of the beſt kind, elegantly dreſſed, and in great plenty. The generoſity, the Chriſtian behaviour, and the politeneſs, with which they were treated on that day, merit their acknowledgment.---May the benefactors be bleſſed in their baſket and ſtore.---May their names be fragrant as the field, which the LORD hath bleſſed.----May perfuming trees of the LORD's planting, grow thick and ſhady about their tabernacles.---May the fatneſs of Heaven drop down upon their hearts,---and may their alms riſe up like incenſe, for a memorial before GOD.

By Captain CURTIS, arrived at New-York from London, in ſeven Weeks Paſſage, we have the following Advices, viz.

CORTE (in CORSICA) June 1.

AN expreſs and ſeveral officers are arrived here from Capraia, with advice, that the fortreſs capitulated on the 29th paſt, at evening, and next morning was put into the hands of the beſiegers. Leave was given to commiſſary Bernard Ottone, who commanded therein in chief, to embark with the garriſon to Genoa, or any other part of the Genoeſe territories, and the enemy's officers have been treated with politeneſs, and dined at the ſame table with thoſe of Corſica. M. Ottone immediately wrote a letter to the Senator Pinelli, acquainting him with the capitulation, and deſiring him to ſend a veſſel to take the garriſon on board. In conſequence of this, a pink arrived on the 31ſt, and M. Ottone, with ſome attendants, embarked. As ſoon as they were on board, a gale of wind aroſe, and the ſhip was obliged to put to ſea: The reſt of the garriſon are ſtill on ſhore, waiting for another veſſel.

The fortreſs has been defended for 102 days, with no other ſuſtenance for 80 people than bread and water. There were found in it eleven pieces of braſs, beſides other ordnance, two barrels of cartouches for the muſquetry, two barrels of powder, ſeveral ſmall arms, and a great number of bullets.

LONDON.

June 20. We are credibly informed, that his Excellency the Earl of Rochfort, his Majeſty's Ambaſſador Extraordinary to the Court of France, is daily expected in town from Paris. Some ſay he comes to tranſact private buſineſs of his own; others ſay his Lordſhip was ſent for, in order to be appointed one of his Majeſty's principal Secretaries of State.

They write from Paris, that a girl of 17 years old has the power of throwing herſelf into a trance at pleaſure, during which ſhe has actually been known, in preſence of ſeveral witneſſes, to remain inſenſible to the application of hot iron, to different parts of the body.

We hear that Meir Jaffier, who lately died in the Eaſt-Indies, has left to Lord Clive, rupees to the value of 120,000l. ſterling; on which his Lordſhip ſummoned a Council for their opinion, whether that money properly belonged to the company or himſelf; when they determined, that it was his Lordſhip's ſole right; whereupon his Lordſhip took poſſeſſion of it, but immediately after generouſly ſettled the whole of it on the widows and orphans of thoſe officers and ſoldiers who loſt their lives in the ſervice.

By accounts lately arrived in the Prince Frederick ſtore ſhip, we are credibly informed, that the new iſlands near the Streights of Magellan, were, laſt ſummer, very fruitful in peaſe, beans, turnips, potatoes, &c. &c. the ſeed of which had been ſown by the gentlemen of the men of war ſtationed at Port Egmont, which was diſcerned by the Dolphin in her laſt voyage, and ſaid to be as commodious and ſafe a harbour as any in the world. The land being without trees, care had been taken to get a large quantity tranſported from the Streights, ſo that with proper management and induſtry, it is hoped they will one day turn out of the utmoſt uſe. Thoſe are the iſlands which ſome have repreſented to be ſo ſteril, as not to produce any kind of vegetables!----Had Commodore Anſon, in his voyage round Cape Horn, known of this port, there is not the leaſt doubt but his whole fleet might have gone into the South Sea in good condition.

June 24. Some politicians begin to think, that in caſe the Courts of Vienna, Paris, and Madrid, ſhould pay any regard to the application of the See of Rome againſt the Diſſidents in Poland, a general war in Poland will probably take place, as the five great powers who have already declared in their favour, as guarantees of the treaty of Oliva, would exert their force in favour of ſuch declarations.

And to ſome other public and private bills.

The following is His MAJESTY's Moſt Gracious SPEECH, made on Friday, the Fourth of July, to both Houſes of PARLIAMENT.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

THE advanced ſeaſon of the year, joined to the conſideration of the inconvenience you muſt all have felt from ſo long an abſence from your ſeveral countries, calls upon me to put an end to the preſent ſeſſion of Parliament; which I cannot do, without returning you my thanks for your diligent application to the public buſineſs, and the proofs you have given of your affection for me, for my family, and for my government: And tho', from the nature and extenſiveneſs of the ſeveral objects under your conſideration, it could not be expected that all the great commercial intereſts ſhould be completely adjuſted and regulated in the courſe of this ſeſſion, yet I am perſuaded that, by the progreſs you have made, a ſolid foundation is laid for ſecuring the moſt conſiderable and eſſential benefits to this nation.

"As no material alteration has happened in the ſtate of foreign affairs ſince your firſt meeting, I have nothing to communicate to you on that ſubject. The fixed objects of all my meaſures are, to preſerve the peace, and, at the ſame time, to aſſert and maintain the honour of my crown, and the juſt rights of my ſubjects."

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

"I thank you for the neceſſary ſupplies which you have ſo chearfully granted for the publick ſervice; and my particular acknowledgments are due to you, for the proviſion you have enabled me to make for the more honourable ſupport and maintenance of my family."

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

"The great attention which you have ſhewn to the particular purpoſe for which I called you ſo early together, and the very wholeſome laws paſſed for relieving my ſubjects from the immediate diſtreſs which the great ſcarcity of corn threatened to bring upon them, give me the moſt ſenſible pleaſure. I rely upon you for the exertion of your utmoſt endeavours to convince my people, that no care has been wanting to procure for them every relief which has been poſſible; and that their grateful ſenſe of proviſions ſo wiſely made for their happineſs and laſting proſperity, cannot be ſo fully expreſſed, as by a ſtrict obſervance of that order and regularity, which are equally neceſſary to the ſecurity of all good government, as well as to their own real welfare."

Then the Lord Chancellor, by his Majeſty's command, prorogued this Parliament to Monday the 31ſt of Auguſt next.

July 4. The great talk of a change in the miniſtry will end, in the opinion of many of our politicians, in nothing but talk.

On the other hand, it is too notorious to be contradicted, that there has been a violent agitation among the members of the adminiſtration, within this week paſt. Whatever latent cauſe may have put them into ſuch a manifeſt troubled motion, a few days, we think, will determine whether a total and laſting calm is to ſucceed or not.

July 7. It is now confidently ſaid, that his Grace the Duke of Richmond will be appointed Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

Friday afternoon the lady of the Hon. Col. Fitzroy, brother to the Duke of Grafton, was ſafely delivered of a daughter, at his houſe near May-fair.

Letters from Liſbon of the 2d ult. confirm the account of the inhabitants of Tercera having revolted againſt the new Governor; and add, that ſome ſhips are equipping and arming to take troops on board, in order to quell the inſurgents.

It has been thought, and ſtill is ſuppoſed by many, that a new parliament will precede the next ſeſſions; but we hear the contrary is determined upon.

BRUSSELS, June 27.

From the borders of the Vistula, June 15. The great number of Catholicks, amongst whom are some Bishops, which have joined the Dissidents, give us room to think, that it is not only the cause of the latter, but some more general interest, that occasions the commotions in Poland and Lithuania. Be it as it will, it is certain that the Counts Henry and Maurice de Brubl, who are at present in Saxony, have acceded to the act by which Courland joins the confederacy of Dissidents in Lithuania, because, though invested with the Indigenat (instrument of naturalization) in Courland, they were refused to be acknowledged as Polish Nobles in the late dyets.

Metz, June 12. The Parliament has this day issued an arret, which orders all the Jesuits, who have not yet taken the oath prescribed, to take it within a month's time, on pain of forfeiting the advantages devolved to them by the edict of November 1764, of being rendered unworthy of the King's favour, and obliged to quit the kingdom.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, June 22.

"On Friday last the First President reported to the Parliament, that the King told him the evening before, "that he "had ordered his edicts to be registered, and issued letters of "jussion (or command)." In consequence, the edict for the creation of brevets, &c. was registered, with some modifications; but in respect to that for prolonging the Twentieth-penny, it was resolved that his Majesty should be most humbly supplicated to withdraw it. The First President went to Choisy the same day, to inform the King of what had passed; and next morning the Attorney-General remitted to the Parliament fresh letters of jussion; which being read, the Parliament resolved upon an arret, importing, "that the reasons alledged in their re-"monstrances, would not permit them to obey the King's or-"ders; and that his Majesty should be again besought to with-"draw his edict, or at least to limit the tax to two years, "instead of four and an half." We are extremely impatient to see how this new remonstrance of the Parliament will be received."

A letter from Twere (the chief town of the province of that name) in Russia, says, "The Empress, before her departure from hence, distributed alms to the poor, and more particularly to widows and orphans; and ordered many prisoners to be set at liberty. CHARLESTOWN (SOUTH-CAROLINA) July 30.

By Captain Leslie Grove, in 24 days from Pensacola, we are informed, they had a pretty good supply of provisions when he came away; but they remained without an assembly, trade or other business. On account of the length of the voyage, and some of his company being sick, Captain Grove found it necessary to call at Havannah for refreshments, but was refused admittance into that port, and treated, the 19th inst. in the same manner, as all his Majesty's ships lately have beeen, who went thither on the same errand.

August 3. The gang of villains from Virginia and North-Carolina, who have, for some years past, in small parties, under particular leaders, infested the back parts of the southern provinces, stealing horses from one, and selling them in the next, notwithstanding the late publick examples made of some of them, we hear, are more formidable than ever as to numbers, and more audacious, and cruel in their thefts and outrages. It is reported that they consist of more than 200, form a chain of communication with each other, and have places of general meeting, where (in imitation of councils of war) they form plans of operation and defence, and (alluding to their secrecy and fidelity to each other) call those places free-masons lodges.-----Instances of their cruelty to the people in the back-settlements, whom they rob or otherwise abuse, are so numerous and shocking, that a narrative of them would fill a whole gazette, and every reader with horror. They at present range in the Forks between Broad, Saluda, and Savannah-rivers. Two of the gang were hanged last week at Savannah, viz. Lundy Hust, and Obadiah Greenage. Two others, James Ferguson, and Jesse Hambersam, were killed, when those were taken.

August 7. Letters from Silver Bluff, on Savannah river, dated on Tuesday last week, inform us, that a number of the people called Crackers, who live above Augusta, in the province of Georgia, had gone, in a hostile manner, to the Indian town and settlement at Okonee, where, on their arrival, finding only one old Indian man, all the others being out hunting, they plundered the village of every thing of any value that they could carry off, and then burnt every house in it. The same letters add, that this is like a formal declaration of war, and that dreadful consequences may be apprehended, should the Indians take it in that light, in which case, those people that committed such a violent outrage, would be the first to run away. Letters from Augusta say, that the pretence for this violence was, that those who committed it had lost several horses, which they suspected were stolen by the Indians of Okonee, that they went to that town in search of them, but found none, and seeing the place defenceless, all the men being from home, they resolved to plunder and burn it.

NEW-HAVEN, August 29.

By Captain Francis Browne, in 22 days from Martinico, we are informed, that on the 6th instant, a violent gale or hurricane, which continued for four hours, obliged him to leave that place, and put to sea, together with 5 or 6 other vessels, one of which was Captain Mitchell of South-Carolina, and he apprehends great damage must have been sustained by the vessels that remained in the Harbour, which were about 20 in number; on his passage he touched at St. Kitts and Eustatia, where he found the gale had been equally violent.

NEW-YORK, September 3.

Monday last an Egg-Harbour sloop, one Hosier Master, as she lay along side of the wharff, near the Albany pier, was robbed; the master's chest, wherein was about £150 in cash, besides his cloaths, being taken out of the cabin, while he and another lay asleep in it, and carried on to the wharff, to a small distance from the vessel, where the chest was found the next morning broke open, and every thing taken out of it: Great search and enquiry was made all the next day, to no purpose.---The next afternoon, a man at work on board a vessel lying near the Egg-Harbour-Man, missed some money out of his pocket, and his suspicions fell upon one Norton, a hand belonging to Hosier, whereupon he had him apprehended, and examined, and finding his suspicions too much confirmed, he had Norton committed to Gaol:----On Wednesday morning Norton offered to confess; whereupon being brought before a magistrate again, he owned the robbery of the sloop, and said he had hid the money in one of the wharfts, but had thrown the cloaths into the river; upon which the wharfts being searched in the place where he said he had hid it, the money was happily found, but nothing of the cloaths to be seen:---Norton then impeached another as an accomplice, and said the cloaths were hid also, but on searching the place, none could be found; whereupon both he and the accomplice were committed to goal.

For theſe reaſons, I intend to ſell the following lands and ſlaves, at the times, and on the terms hereafter mentioned, viz.

4875 acres of land, being an entire part of 6500 acres, contained in one tract on Shannondoah river, in the county of Frederick, in Virginia. It is a ſufficient recommendation of this land, to ſay, it contains more than a moderate proportion of low ground; the ſale is to be on the premiſes the firſt day of December next, if fair, or next fair day; before when it will be laid off in lots, for the conveniency of the buyer; one half of the purchaſe money to be paid by the 10th of April next, the other half by the 10th of March, 1769; 5 per cent diſcount for ready money, will be allowed on the firſt payment, and 12 and a half per cent on the ſecond. Any perſons inclinable to view the land, may be ſhewn it by Mr. Edward Snigars, who lives adjoining.

Alſo to be ſold at private ſale one other tract, on Four Mile Run, about 5 miles from the town of Alexandria, in the county of Fairfax, containing 1166 acres, part is very good, and part mean, but as it is level, it is capable of being improved to advantage; there are ſeveral acres fit for meadow, and a ſtream within it is very conſtant and ſufficient even for a tub mill.

Alſo to be ſold at private ſale, one other tract, on Pohick Run, about 5 miles from the town of Colcheſter, in the ſaid county of Fairfax, containing 1059 acres. I never ſaw this land, ſo cannot vouch for its quality, but I preſume it is equal to its neighbourhood, which is occupied, and as there are two tenants on it, I ſuppoſe they think it good; theſe tenants are at will, ſo no incumbrance.

Likewiſe to be ſold at publick ſale, on the 16th day of December next, at my mill plantation, on Little River, in the county of Loudon, about two miles from Captain William Weſt's Ordinary, 40 ſlaves, they are very likely, and the young ones remarkably ſo, having been well fed and cloathed from their birth. Alſo all the ſtocks of horſes, black cattle, hogs and ſheep, together with the corn, wheat, rye, oats, hay and fodder (of which there is and will be a great quantity) and plantation utenſils belonging to two quarters; the black cattle are remarkably fine, ſome of the horſes are blooded, and a great number of the hogs will be then fit for pork; the ſlaves will be ſold on the ſame terms with the Frederick lands, and the ſtock, &c. for three months credit only, with a diſcount of 2 and a half per cent. for ready money.

At the ſame time will be lett for life or years, the ſaid mill plantation, with 400 or more acres of land adjoining (to include 352 acres lately purchaſed of Mr. Craven Peyton) whereon are many valuable improvements, particularly a very conſtant and well accuſtomed tub mill, with a bolt to go by water, the houſe well floored, and convenient for merchant work (it is ſo ſituated as to have earned 120 barrels of Indian corn a year, beſides a large quantity of wheat and rye) alſo a double pitched barn, with three floors for threſhed grain, well ſhingled, and underpinned with ſtone; and likewiſe a large framed houſe, lately built by Mr. Peyton for his dwelling-houſe, it is not finiſhed, but is weather boarded and ſhingled, and has a good cellar walled with ſtone. There is now on this plantation above thirty acres of meadow, well ſet with timothy, but more than 450 acres may be prepared at a trifling expence. But it is to be obſerved, that as a tract to which this propoſed tenement joins, is thought to contain a great quantity of iron ore, if ever a furnace or other works ſhall be built thereon, then the leaſe to determine on the firſt day of November next, after the workmen or labourers ſhall begin to erect the works, or dig the ore.

Alſo for private ſale, the ſaid adjoining tract, together with the tenement laſt mentioned, the whole containing 17,200 acres, on eaſy terms, and very long credit for the greateſt part of the money. It is thought to be very fit for iron works, and to contain an inexhauſtible quantity of ore and wood, and alſo water enough for two furnaces, and ſeveral ſingle forges; there are two ſtreams, the one about 5 miles below the other, is always the ſame, and is ſupported by a ſpring which riſes near the place where the furnace would be built, and is more than ſufficient for a furnace and merchant mill. The upper ſtream is called Little River, and for 9 months in the year would ſupply 5 tub mills; I ſpeak of dry years; for till lately it never failed ſupplying my tub mill, which conſumes a prodigious quantity of water, and at the drieſt ſeaſon the mill now grinds about two hours every morning; the ſtream is ſo land locked, that it is the opinion of an iron maſter who accompanied me to the place in July 1765, that it will ſupport ſeveral ſingle forges very near each other, and with reſervoirs (which may be made at a trifling expence) it may be made perpetual. At the time he attended me, the ſeaſon had been for a conſiderable time very dry, and my overſeer informed us that the water was nearly at the loweſt, and from an experiment then made, the fountain yielded as much as could be vented through a trough 24 inches ſquare; many thouſand acres of this land are extremely fine, and the whole is well covered with wood, and affords an excellent range for ſtock. The ſituation is very good as to inland trade for iron, and the land carriage is 45 miles to Alexandria, 32 to Colcheſter, and 36 to Dumfries, on Quantico Creek (all good landings) the lower ſtream is 5 miles nearer to Colcheſter and Dumfries, to which the roads are equal to the beſt natural roads in America, and the neighbourhood is well ſettled with Pennſylvania and Jerſey farmers.

I have neither time nor ſkill to make ſuch aſſays as are neceſſary to diſcover the quantity or quality of the ore, but if any perſons incline to make experiments, they are at full liberty to do ſo, and my overſeers now on the premiſes, will ſhew all the bloſſoms on the land; and if ſuch perſons become purchaſers or partners, they ſhall be amply allowed for their ſkill, as well as labour in ſuch enquiries.

An unexceptionable title will be made, with general warranty, and bond and ſecurity will be expected of the purchaſers; beſides, the lands will not be conveyed till the conſideration money is paid, and as a collateral ſecurity for the purchaſe money of the ſlaves, I ſhall inſiſt on a bill of ſale for them. JAMES MERCER.

September 17, 1767. NUMB. 2021.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

On Friday laſt the Ship JUPITER, Captain MACKEY, arrived here, in a ſhort Paſſage, from Londonderry, by whom we have the following Advices, viz.

CIVITA VECCHIA, June 20.

LAST Sunday a freſh cargo of 200 Jeſuits arrived here, which immediately ſailed for Genoa, not having been able to diſembark at Corſica, as General Paoli had excuſed himſelf to the Commander of the French troops from procuring the neceſſary ſubſiſtence for thoſe Fathers, on account of the ſcarcity of proviſions. It is believed that the Republic will ſettle theſe Jeſuits in the maritime places; at leaſt, if ſome letters from Genoa may be credited, which inform, that if the Republic ſhould fail in its engagement with the King of Spain, by refuſing to receive the above Fathers expelled from his kingdom, his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty will withdraw his troops from Corſica.

Genoa, June 13. The 8th of this month Colonel Anciani was committed to the tower of the palace, on a charge of having neither ſhown diligence enough, nor made ſufficient efforts for landing our troops on the iſle of Capraia.

Turin, June 17. In a ſtorm which happened on the 28th ult. the lightning fell on the pariſh church of Villo di Stellone, near Carignan, and killed ſeven people. The ſame ſtorm likewiſe affected the citadel of this place. It rained here very hard, but at Villo di Stellone it neither rained nor thundered. The day before this ſtorm there were ſeveral ſhocks of the earth, which ſplit the arch of a church in the valley of Lanzo, and threw down ſome ſmall houſes.

Liſbon, June 10. A veſſel of war, and three tranſports, are ſailed from the Tagus, for the Azores, with troops on board, for appeaſing a dangerous tumult in the iſle of Tercera, which is imputed to the intrigues of the Jeſuits.

Warſaw, June 21. We are informed from Radom, that the election of a Marſhal-General of the confederacy, is to come on there to-morrow. This confederacy, the like of which was never known before, actually conſiſts of 72,000 gentlemen, and the number is daily increaſing.

Hague, July 4. His Serene Highneſs the Stadtholder, being hunting the heron a few days ſince, near his country ſeat of Loo, he took one with a braſs ring on his claws, bearing an inſcription, that this bird was chaced and taken, in 1737, by the late Elector of Cologne.

Hague, July 9. This morning the Count de Marſay, one of the Chamberlains of the Prince Stadtholder, delivered to the Preſident of the week of the States General, a letter from the Prince, by which his Serene Highneſs informs their High Mightineſſes, that his marriage with her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs Frederica-Sophia-Wilhelmina of Pruſſia was concluded on, with the conſent and agreement of the King, and of her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs Dowager of Pruſſia.

Their High Mightineſſes immediately returned an anſwer by a letter of felicitation on this event, deputed two members of their aſſembly to acquaint his Excellency the Ambaſſador from Great-Britain therewith, and alſo ſent their Agent to notify the ſame to all the foreign Miniſters.

All the Inhabitants have eagerly teſtified their joy on this happy event, which hath long been the object of the wiſhes of the whole nation.

Naples, June 9. A Turkiſh galley, coming from the coaſt of Africa, and laden with tributes for the Grand Signior, lately attacked a ſmall Corſican veſſel; the crew of which, being reſolved to defend themſelves to the laſt extremity, boarded the Turk, and gave ſuch proofs of their valour as are almoſt incredible; but were almoſt overcome by the great number of their antagoniſts, when a Malteſe galley, commanded by the Chevalier Roſſelmini, came up to their aſſiſtance, and boarding likewiſe the Turkiſh galley, they ſoon made themſelves maſters of it. The Corſicans had for their ſhare of the prize ſome pieces of cannon, ſeveral fire-arms, a great quantity of ammunition, and 16,000 pieces of ſilver money.

June 16. It is thought there will ſoon be ſome revolution in this kingdom, relative to the Jeſuits, the King having forbid Cardinal Orſini to ſee the General of that Order, and directed him to diſcharge his Confeſſor, who is a Jeſuit.

Wilna, in Lithuania, June 13. The deputation of the general confederacy formed in this duchy, takes upon itſelf a very extenſive authority. It has ordered the truſtees of the effects of Prince Charles de Radzivil, to give an account of their adminiſtration. We cannot ſufficiently admire the viciſſitude of human affairs; it is but a few years ſince the Ruſſian troops made war againſt that Prince, and obliged him to quit his country; now they have brought him home again, and ſupport and protect him.

Prince Repnin, Ambaſſador from Ruſſia, has lately made a preſent of a ſuperb table ſervice of plate to Prince Radzivil.

Peterſbourg, June 19. Count Czernichew, Ambaſſador from the Empreſs to the King of Great-Britain, is not yet ſet out, and probably will not, till advice is received that his Britannick Majeſty has appointed an Ambaſſador to reſide at this Court.

We are aſtoniſhed that ſome news writers ſhould dare to inſinuate, that the ſtay of the Ruſſian troops in Poland gives offence to the Ottoman Porte. This advice is ill grounded, and merely conjecture.

Berlin, July 7. The Baron de Larrey, Envoy from the Prince Stadtholder, is ſtill here, and his commiſſion is no longer a ſecret. It was to demand the Princeſs Wilhelmina in marriage for his Serene Highneſs, and he has executed it with ſucceſs. It is not certainly known when this marriage will be ſolemnized, but it is generally thought that it will be in October next. The beauty, good ſenſe, and amiable diſpoſition of this Princeſs, who poſſeſſes every natural and acquired accompliſhment, prognoſticates the higheſt felicity to his Serene Highneſs.

Florence, June 20. Letters from Rome ſay, that the Cardinals are greatly divided in their opinions with reſpect to the manner in which the Pope ought to treat the Jeſuits.

Genoa, June 27. They write from Leghorn, that the Corſicans have fitted out a large felucca in the gulph of St. Lawrence, to cruize againſt the Genoeſe ſhips. Letters from Baſtia adviſe, that there are but 150 Corſicans left in the iſland of Capraia. The Sieur Barbiggi, who is appointed Governor of that iſland, has ſent to Corſica all the braſs cannon in that fortreſs, and ſupplied the place with iron guns. He hath alſo ordered all the entrenchments, made during the late ſiege, to be deſtroyed, and three ſmall forts to be built for the defence of the iſland. In the laſt aſſembly of the malecontents held at Corte, it was reſolved to tax all the inhabitants of the iſland one thouſandth part of their eſtates, where they exceed the value of one thouſand livres. The produce of this tax is to defray the expence of the ſiege of Capraia, and of the ſubſiſtence of the garriſon of that place.

LONDON, July 11.

They write from Liſbon, that Don Louis da Cuncha, a near relation to the Prime Miniſter of Portugal, was ſhortly to ſet out for London in a public character, to ſucceed M. Mello de Caſtro, his Moſt Faithful Majeſty's Envoy-Extraordinary at that court.

Private advices from Liſbon mention, that orders were lately iſſued for raiſing ten additional regiments of foot, which occaſioned much ſpeculation as to the motive of ſuch a meaſure in time of a profound peace.

A letter from Poland informs us of the death of the Prince Primate of that kingdom, the 21ſt laſt, in the 64th year of his age.

A letter from Verſailles, dated July 1, ſays, "An officer is arrived here from Morrocco, ſent by the Count de Breugnon, the King's Ambaſſador there, with advice of a peace having been concluded with the Emperor Muley Mahomet. This treaty was ſigned the 30th of May laſt, when all the French ſlaves, without exception, were ſet at liberty, and the three ſhips which were taken by the Moors during the time that this negotiation was carrying on, were reſtored.

"The Count du Chatlet-Lomont, late Ambaſſador from the King at the Court of Vienna, is appointed his Majeſty's Ambaſſador to the King of Great-Britain."

It was yeſterday reported, that one of our cruizers, on the Newfoundland ſtation, had taken a large French ſhip in the gulf of St. Lawrence, with a great quantity of goods, arms and ammunition, on board, and carried her into St. John's.

The French King has yielded to the laſt remonſtrance of his parliament concerning the prolongation of the twentieth penny, and has iſſued another edict, which has been regiſtered, and which limits that tax to two years, inſtead of four and a half, as was at firſt intended.

It is ſaid that the difference which has ſo long ſubſiſted between two noble brothers, the one in, and the other out of the m----y, is on the point of being made up, in which caſe it is thought the later will have ſome diſtinguiſhed poſt in the a-----n conferred on him, with liberty to bring his friends in along with him.

It has been intimated to a great perſonage, that unleſs he diſcards his ------, and is reconciled to his ------, his preſence will not be agreeable at a certain ------.

Yeſterday there was a numerous levee, and afterwards a grand council, at St. James's.

The terms which a certain Marquis offered, have been rejected.

It is ſaid, that if the Earl of Chatham reſigns, his Grace the Duke of Newcaſtle will be again appointed Lord Privy Seal.

Yeſterday the Earl of Briſtol had the honour of a private conference with his Majeſty at St. James's.

No changes have yet been declared at court. The Right Hon Mr. C----y, whoſe reſignation was voluntary, has been deſired, as we are informed, to remain in his place till a proper perſon is choſen to fill it. The above Gentleman has ſeveral times lately had the honour of private conferences with his Majeſty.

Laſt week the firſt volume in manuſcript of Mr. Wilkes's hiſtory of England, was ſold to a bookſeller at the court end of the town, for ſix hundred guineas.

We are told that the people in general are ſo much alarmed at the proſpect of meat being ſtill dearer, for want of a proper ſupply being permitted to be imported, that they are determined not to vote for any perſon to be member in the enſuing parliament, who will not uſe his endeavours to enact a law for allowing the free importation of all ſorts of proviſions from any place whatever for one year, as the ſureſt and only way of lowering the price of proviſions; which will enable our manufacturers to go on with their buſineſs, otherwiſe they will all come up to London, which will fill our ſtreets with poor, or go to America, where they meet with ample encouragement, eſpecially in the iron manufactory; as a proof of which 13 of the beſt hammermen and forge-men, have been engaged to go from Sheffield to America, for which a handſome premium is given them, and great wages for two years certain, and ſix ſhillings a week to each of their wives and families as ſtay behind for that time. They have alſo given 100 guineas each for the beſt ſaw-makers, and the ſame money for their wives that ſtay.

We hear that a violent ſtorm of thunder and lightning has done great damage at Douglaſs, and other parts, in the Iſle of Man.

July 14. Freſh liſts of changes in the adminiſtration are again handed about; but we are informed they are not to be relied on.

The Earl of Chatham, who has been dangerouſly ill at North End, is now thought to be in a fair way of recovery.

Two new ſhips of war, of 70 guns each, are put upon the ſtocks at Woolwich.

We hear from Glaſgow, that a violent hurricane, attended with thunder and lightning, has done great damage at the iſle of Arran, in the weſt Highlands of Scotland.

A few days ſince, a broker near Old-ſtreet, having purchaſed a room of goods belonging to a poor old woman in that neighbourhood, upon opening the drawers of an old bureau, diſcovered a private one within another, in which he found a lottery ticket for the year 1765, which, upon examination, proves to have been drawn a prize of 500 pounds.

Extract of a letter from Edinburgh, July 7.

"The grand deciſion of the Douglaſs cauſe began this day. The Preſident in a ſpeech, of near two hours, declared his opinion in favour of Hamilton, and was clear for a reduction. Lord Strichen ſpoke next, and was as clear in favour of Douglaſs. After which the preſident aſked Lord Kaims's opinion, who excuſed himſelf, as he was then too much heated by the throng in court to ſpeak. It was adjourned till to-morrow, when it is expected that he and Lord Auchinleck will deliver their opinions, and the affair be determined on Thurſday."

July 16. Some private letters from Liſbon adviſe, that the King of Portugal has appointed and ſent over by the laſt fleet, new governors and other officers for every department in the Brazils, in order totally to expunge the pernicious principles which the Jeſuits have propagated among the inhabitants of that country.

Extract of a Letter from Stockholm, June 30.

"The Subſidy-Treaty, which is on the tapis between this Kingdom and Great-Britain, ſeems to be on the point of maturity, and there is no doubt of its ſpeedy concluſion. It is however certain, that many perſons who have ſome ſhare in the management of affairs, have declared it as their opinion, that it would be better for us to renew our engagements of this ſort with France."

Extract of a Letter from Dantzick, June 22.

"The ſtate of affairs in this kingdom becomes every day more critical. The facility with which the numerous confederacies are formed, has no example in hiſtory. One of the chief cauſes of theſe leagues appears to be the law made in the preſent reign, by which the power of the two great generals is very much limited, tho' the alteration affects not thoſe who are at preſent inveſted with thoſe eminent charges. The great authority granted to the board of treaſury, has alſo given diſguſt to many, though it was really neceſſary to the public weal. But, after all, if the laſt Dyet had been more favourably diſpoſed to the Diſſidents, the laſt declarations of the court of Peterſburgh and Berlin would not have appeared, and conſequently we ſhould not have ſeen all thoſe confederacies which now ſeem to endanger the public tranquility."

They write from Dantzick, that there is a negociation on the tapis (at the inſtance, and under the mediation of the court of Vienna) for indemnifying Prince Charles of Saxony, in ſome meaſure, for the loſs which he has ſuſtained of the dutchies of Courland and Semigallia; in order to which, it is thought, a ceſſion will be made to him of the ſtaroſty of Zips.

Letters from Paris ſay, that the Duke of Modena has offered to receive a certain number of Jeſuits into his dominions, but on condition that his Catholic Majeſty will continue to pay them their penſions, even though there ſhould appear ſome writings for their juſtification.

The King of Sardinia, it is ſaid, has formed the project of aſſembling all the Jeſuits in his kingdom at Alexandria, and to confine them there till ſuch time as they ſhall be utterly extirpated.

Lord Clive landed at Portſmouth on Tueſday evening, in perfect health, from on board the Britannia, and his Lordſhip arrived in town yeſterday.

This morning the Right Hon. Lord Clive had a numerous levee of the Nobility and Gentry, at his houſe in Berkley-ſquare, to compliment his Lordſhip on his arrival from the Eaſt-Indies. It is ſaid that his Lordſhip has brought over ſome valuable preſents for his Majeſty.

We hear ſome great Perſonages are ſo alarmed at the news of a certain celebrated Exile's writing the new Hiſtory of England, that ſome ſhrewd politicians begin to think, with no ſmall degree of confidence, that they will procure a pardon for him, on condition of his not continuing the ſaid Hiſtory further than the reign of his late Majeſty King George II. Others are of opinion, that if he does not obtain a pardon, he will certainly receive a very conſiderable ſum of money, on the ſame condition.---So great is their fear of having their fame tranſmitted to poſterity by a writer whoſe parts and abilities will inſure immortality to his work.

We are aſſured (notwithſtanding all the inſinuations to the contrary) that the Right Hon. the E--- of B--- does not at all, either directly or indirectly, intermeddle in public affairs, and that he has no hand, in any reſpect whatſoever, in the intended miniſterial changes, nor did he ſo much as ſee his M-----y ſince they were ſet on foot; conſequently the report of his being at Kew laſt Sunday was ſe'nnight for that purpoſe is entirely falſe, not having been there or at court during the whole negociation.

Lord Rochfort, we hear, is ſent for from Paris, being deſtined, as ſuppoſed, for ſome conſiderable poſt in the enſuing new Adminiſtration.

It was this morning reported, that the Earl of Rochfort will be appointed to ſucceed the Right Hon. Mr. Conway, as one of his Majeſty's Secretaries of State. Some diſpatches were forwarded to his Lordſhip yeſterday.

It is talked, that a great poſt in the Adminiſtration will be offered to Lord Clive.

The Archbiſhop of York, in obedience to his Majeſty's command, has ſent circular letters to all the Biſhops, his ſuffrages, deſiring them to procure from their reſpective clergy complete liſts of all the Papiſts, or reputed Papiſts, in their reſpective dioceſes, diſtinguiſhing their ſexes, ages, and occupations, and how long they have been reſident there. His Grace has alſo ſent letters to all the clergy in his dioceſe, requiring them to make out liſts in the ſame manner for their reſpective pariſhes; which liſts are to be laid before the Houſe of Peers the firſt day of next ſeſſion of parliament

A few days ago ſome jars of fine olives were imported at Briſtol from Penſacola, which were eſteemed equal to the beſt Spaniſh.

On Monday evening two perſons made their appearance at Vauxhall, the one aſſuming the title of a Nobleman, and the other that of a Baronet, attended by French-horns, &c. but their behaviour not agreeing with the titles they had taken, gave umbrage to ſome gentlemen preſent, and a general uproar began, when the Conſtables, with proper aſſiſtants, were obliged to take them into cuſtody; his Lordſhip, on enquiry, appeared to be no leſs than a Maſter Taylor, and the other a Carpenter.

Extract of a Letter from Edinburgh, July 11.

"On Tueſday came on, before the Court, the deciſion of the Douglas cauſe: The opinions of the Judges upon which, ſtand as follows:

For Hamilton, ſpoke on Tueſday, Lord Preſident. Thurſday, Barjarg, Alemore, and Elliock. Friday, Stoneſield. This day, Kennet, and Hails.

For Douglaſs, ſpoke on Tueſday, Lord Strichen. Wedneſday, Kaims, Auchinleck, and Coalſton. Friday, Pitfour. This day, Gardenſton.

There remains only Juſtice Clerk and Monboddo to ſpeak on Tueſday, one of whom, it is certain, will be for Hamilton, and the other Douglaſs, whereby there is an equality, and reſolving upon the Preſident's caſting vote, the Hamilton family carries it here. It is needleſs to mention what a conſternation this affair makes in Edinburgh.

INTELLIGENCE EXTRAORDINARY.

The terms upon which the M------ of R--------- offered to come into the Adminiſtration were certainly as follows:

1. The D--- of R---------d to go to Ireland. 2. Lord A----e to be at the Head of the Army. 3. Mr. Y---- to be Lord Chancellor. 4. Mr. C----y to be Secretary of State for the Southern Department. Which were refuſed.

July 9. Sunday the Marquis of Rockingham, and the Right Hon. Mr. Conway, ſet out of town for Richmond, where they had a long conference with his M---, who, we hear, ſent for them expreſly for that purpoſe; and on Monday thoſe two perſonages waited upon the Duke of Grafton, with whom alſo they had a long conference. It is reported that the Marquis has refuſed the Lieutenancy of Ireland.

In the courſe of laſt Seſſions of Parliament, 209 Bills received the Royal Aſſent, 95 public, and 114 private, which is the greateſt number that has received the Royal Aſſent in one Seſſions for ſeveral years.

'Tis ſaid, that as the Government is now intereſted in the affairs of the Eaſt-India Company, the ſervices of Lord Clive will be honoured with a ducal Coronet.

Letters from Liſbon mention, that ſome very diſagreeable advices had juſt been received there from Goa, the Portugueſe principal ſettlement on the Malabar coaſt.

Conſiderable wagers are held at the weſt end of the town, that a noble Marquis will be in poſſeſſion of an employment, which he lately held no leſs to his own honour than the ſatisfaction of the public, before the middle of Auguſt.

Yeſterday ſome diſpatches were received at the Secretary's Office from his Excellency Sir Henry Moore, Governor of New-York.

Yeſterday the ſeveral agents for New-York, Boſton, Philadelphia, and the Maſſachuſetts-Bay, &c. attended the board of Trade and Plantations.

Edinburgh, July 8. The Univerſity of Edinburgh have conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity on the Rev. Mr. Wheelock, the Founder and Preſident of the Academy for the Education of Youth.

July 13. We are told that a narrow canal is projecting between Perth and Forfar, for the purpoſe of inland navigation, which, if carried into execution, will be productive of the greateſt advantages to that place.

Birmingham, July 13. Saturday ſe'nnight as the wife of John Bennet, of Handſworth, was ringing a pan, to ſettle a ſwarm of Bees, they fixed upon her head, neck and breaſt, and continued till the evening, when ſhe ſhook them off into a hive; and received no other hurt than a few ſtings on her arms and breaſt.

CRY ALOUD: Spare not: Lift up thy voice like a trumpet: Oh! that I had the lungs of Stentor! Or if I had the wings of a Seraph, I would croſs the wide Atlantic, in a moment, and deliver a faithful meſſage to the dear, dear mother country.

Forbear, my good old Matron, any longer to give heed to the lies that are told you of your own children: As you would not forfeit that character of wiſdom, of equity and generoſity, for which you have been for ages paſt ſo juſtly famed: As you would not be deceived to your own real ſubſtantial injury, if not ruin, which may heaven avert! ceaſe to regard the idle tattle, or rather the malignant whiſpers of thoſe who have too long been endeavouring to impreſs your mind with unreaſonable jealouſies of your colonies.---They have told you, we know they have, that it is the intention of America to deſpiſe your conſtitutional authority, to break all connections with you, and to become independent: And when I conſider the character and ſtations of ſome of theſe defamers, I cannot wonder you are diſpoſed to give credit to their reports: But, believe me, for I aſſure you, you may do it with ſafety, the colonies love, eſteem and honour you: You are the root from whence they ſprang; they venerate you as their parent; they are bound to you by the ties of blood: Provoke not your children to wrath, leſt---they be---diſcouraged. While you treat them well, and ſurely they have a right to ſuch treatment, take my word for it, they never will abate their filial reſpect for you; thoſe who tell you otherwiſe, are vile calumniators; they are your enemies, your worſt enemies, more inveterate than the haughty powers of France and Spain, and would make it their ſport to ſee an open rupture between you and us.---Were we not eaſy and contented when you repealed the Stamp-Act? We were. But they had the inſolence to tell you otherwiſe; and reflect---Have you not too readily believed it? You have, my dear good mother, indeed you have; at leaſt ſuffer me to tell you I think you have; elſe, whence is it that we are threatened with correction? Nay, your enemies and ours are now exulting with hopes of laſhing us with whips and ſcorpions; an armed force, to keep us in awe, is their conſtant talk. Is it poſſible, think you, that your own offſpring can bear to be told, that e'er long they ſhall be ſlaves to ſycophants and tools!---wretches, whom we ever deſpiſed, but can never dread.---When you repealed the Stamp-Act we were ſatisfied; content was in every heart, and every countenance was ſerene; and the tranquility was undiſturbed, till we were impudently told to our faces, what we are ſlow---ſlow to believe, that it was your fixed determination to enſlave us. Could we have believed it, what muſt have been our ſentiments of our mother! Suppoſe it to be falſe, how intolerable is the inſolence towards you principally, as well as towards us!----- While Britain remains wiſe, ſhe will never take ſuch meaſures as will without doubt deſtroy herſelf; as long as ſhe is virtuous, ſhe will not injure her colonies upon the partial repreſentations of their pretended friends or open enemies: She who has ſo long been the ſcourge of tyrants, will never ſet up a tyranny: While ſhe preſides over the world, the Umpire of nations, the ſupport of the liberties of mankind, ſhe will never attempt to enſlave her own children. Or, ſhould ſhe----the imagination is diſtreſſing! ſhould ſhe at ſome diſtant period---the inſtability of human things is ſuch! forgive, O ye pious anceſtors of Britain---ye guardians of their liberties and ours---O PITT, and all ye patriots of the preſent time, forgive the thought, and I will utter it-----Should Britain at ſome diſtant period---become a tyrant, and forge chains for America---far diſtant muſt that period be--- Would America ſubmit to her tyranny?---I need not expect an anſwer.---Slavery, my dear mother, we cannot think of; we deteſt it. If this be a crime, remember we ſuck'd it with your milk. We boaſt of our freedom, and we have your example for it. We talk the language we have always heard you ſpeak. Britons will never be ſlaves. This is your own language, and your children have learnt it of you---We muſt be free, and leave the fair inheritance to our children. Do you blame us, can you blame us, for imitating the noble examples of your fathers and ours! What mean thoſe ſeas of blood which they ſhed to tranſmit the bleſſing of freedom to you and to us! Will you part with that freedom? No, you will ever maintain it. Would you deprive us of it? You will not attempt it, till you ſhall be infatuated by the artful and malicious inſinuation of your enemies and ours. For God's ſake, be cautious of being deceived by them: They are deſigning men, artful enough to deceive the very elect: All we want is to ſtand before you upon a footing with them: We are ready to anſwer what they alledge againſt us: Be you the judge, and judge righteous judgment: Then will you ceaſe to meditate ſeverities againſt thoſe, whoſe affection for you is natural, and if it be not your own fault, will be as laſting as your exiſtence.

BRITANNUS AMERICANUS.

BOSTON, September 7.

A letter of the 13th of June, from a Gentleman in London to his Friend in Boſton, ſays, "It is Lord Mansfield's Opinion, that the Authors of the Riots and ſeditious Pieces in America, ſhould be ſent for to England, and there tried for Treaſon; particularly the Writer of a Pamphlet ſome Time ſince publiſhed in Boſton;---againſt which Author there is particular Evidence for his ſeditious and treaſonable Speeches in an American Aſſ----y."

Tueſday laſt arrived here the Ship Minehead, William Waters, from Anguilla, who informs, That at that Iſland, on the 7th of Auguſt laſt, at 3 o'clock in the Morning, they had a ſevere Shock of an Earthquake, and between the Hours of 10 and 11, the ſame Forenoon, they had a violent Guſt of Wind, which flew round from E. N. E. to S. W. At Noon had a ſmall Shock of an Earthquake, but did not hear of any Damage done in the Iſland.

We hear that on the 9th of Auguſt a ſevere Gale of Wind came on, when Capt. Waters put to Sea.

Tueſday Night arrived here Capt. Cochran in a Snow from St. Chriſtophers, but laſt from Euſtatia: On the the 9th of Auguſt he met with very high Gales of Wind, which carried away his Mainmaſt, and did him other Damage.

NEW-YORK, September 14.

Captain Bogart ſailed from Falmouth the 22d of July, where he left the Duke of Cumberland and Lord Hyde Packets; the latter to ſail for this place about the 24th, ſhe being detained on account of the arrival of the Lord Hyde, tho' the mail was come down to Falmouth when ſhe arrived.

By letters from Montreal we learn, that 3 Frenchmen, ſent out by Monſieur La Corne, are lately returned there, after 26 months journey in the wilderneſs, they having been 1500 miles farther than Miſhlamackana, in ſearch of the North-weſt Paſſage; and we hear they have made many uſeful diſcoveries, and that they actually met with a very large river, that ebbed and flowed.

By letters from Antigua, of the 11th of Auguſt, we learn, that they had a hurricane at Dominica, the 27th of July, in which a ſloop that belonged to this port or Philadelphia, and two ſhips from Barbados, bound home, were loſt.

Captain Harriſon, in the ſhip Jenny, in 9 weeks from St. Ubes, the 24th ult. in lat. 39, 50, long. 55, ſpoke with the ſhip Sarah, James Taylor Maſter, from Philadelphia, bound for Cork, all well.

A perſon from Newark, in New-Jerſey, gives us the following odd intelligence; that one Sears, ſome 4 or 5 years ago, having wilfully ſhot, and deſperately wounded, one of the conſervators of the peace in the Borough of Elizabeth, had been committed to Newark goal. Before his trial came on, he aſſigned over what eſtate he had to ſome near relation; on his trial he was found guilty, and, among other articles of his ſentence, he was to find ſecurity for his good behaviour during life; but he being of a very factious and obſtinate temper, he could never get ſuch ſecurity. For ſome time his relations ſupported him in goal, when finding it too chargeable, in their imagination, they withheld their ſupport. For ſome time longer he was ſupported by the charity of the town, but they thinking it was not their duty to do it, ſtopt their hand alſo a few months ago. Upon his being told, thoſe who had hitherto ſupplied him with proviſions, would do ſo no longer, he voluntarily determined to faſt 40 days without food, or die. He perſiſted in the reſolution, and in all the time he only took two coppers worth of rum, and neither eat nor drank any thing elſe for 40 days, in which time he was reduced to a perfect ſkeleton, and continued in a great meaſure like a mere lunatic:----At the expiration of the time, which was but about a fortnight ago, he was prevailed with to take ſome nouriſhment; but for the firſt day or two, every thing he took came up again, his belly having grown almoſt faſt to his back: However, by the help of ſome medicines, or lenitive food, he is at laſt like to recover again, after his long obſtinate faſt, tho' he is very poor and low.

Extract of a letter from Lisbon, July 4.

"The expedition, consisting of four men of war and transports, has been fitted out with greater dispatch than was ever usual in this place, and is sailed. These ships are to take in two regiments that are quartered in the province of Algarve, and are to be embarked from the ports of Saint Uval and Tavira. General Bohm, a German officer in this service, is commander in chief. The certain destination of this armament, however, still remains a profound secret; for though some people had thought it was to join the Spaniards against the settlements of the Jesuits in Paraguay; others to quell an insurrection in the island of Tercera; and others again to put their islands in some posture of defence from an apprehension of the court of England, on account of differences, it is now thought to be for a matter of far greater consequence. Many of the people of Rio de Janeiro, complaining of the ill treatment of their Governor, and the destructive schemes with which their trade has been oppressed of late years, had quitted that settlement, it is said, and had retired into the woods, where others had joined them.

"When measures, contrary to the inclination and interest of the people, are carried on, it is not surprising their discontents should be frequently breaking out; neither can it be expected, that those measures will be observed any longer, than while the reigning government has power to enforce obedience.

It is said that the King of Portugal has lately granted the Dutch merchants at Oporto some exemption from duties on merchandize, which they heretofore used to pay.

The Earl of Chatham continues in such a valetudinary way, that he is less abroad than for some weeks past.

By an account taken this week, it apppears that there are near 10,000 papists, most of them poor miserable people, who live in the purlieus of St. Giles's, and the neighbourhood thereof. A number of papist priests lurk in this part of the town, who chiefly support themselves by marrying poor papists, for the sake of a few shillings.

They write from Aleppo, that the Bashaw had shut up in the castle the Dragoman of the Consul of Great-Britain, by birth a subject of the Sultan, but an officer of England; that having afterwards required the Dragoman's commission to be sent him by the Consul, with a threat, that if the latter refused to obey, he had orders to cut off the Dragoman's head, the Consul saw himself obliged to comply. On the other hand it is assured, that the British Ambassador had sent to the Porte his first interpreter, to know why they had forced the Consul at Aleppo to deliver up the commission of his Dragoman; and that the Porte had replied in a haughty tone, and vague terms, that such were the orders of their Sovereign.

Extract of a letter from Bengal.

"All is peace in this country, and is likely to continue so. Lord Clive has displayed great capacity and abilities in the judicious plan he has established for preserving the company's valuable possessions here: Many of his last appointments and regulations have given such general satisfaction, that clamour and discontent are absorbed in admiration of his many great and shining virtues."

Yesterday there was a great levee at St. James's, and afterwards a privy council, which did not break up till past 4 o'clock, but the expected changes in the ministry did not take place.

Yesterday Lord Clive and Col. Carnac waited on his Majesty at St. James's, and were graciously received.

After Lord Clive had waited on his Majesty at St. James's yesterday, his Lordship went and paid his compliments to the Court of Directors at the East India House, who were sitting, and received his Lordship in the most cordial and polite manner. His Lordship, with his late acquisitions, is now worth 80,000l. per annum, which is more than any other man possesses in England.

We hear that the Earl of Chatham lies dangerously ill at his seat at North End; and it is said, that the Physicians have advised him to remove from thence, that air being thought too sharp for his Lordship.

Extract of a letter from Stockholm, June 30.

"The Government hath given orders for collecting together, towards the end of next month, the presents which this Crown hath been accustomed to send annually to the Bey of Algiers, consisting of ship timber, and ammunition of war."

This morning an express was sent off to Falmouth, to be put on board the packet boat for New-York, said to contain some extraordinary dispatches for Sir Henry Moore.

By the final decision of the great Douglass Cause, not only the title, but a very considerable fortune, we hear, comes to the Hamilton family.

It is with pleasure we can inform the public, that the Legislature of the province of New-York has voluntarily passed the mutiny-bill, conformable to the act of parliament, induced by a sense of the justice and propriety of that law, without any previous knowledge of the late steps taken here to inforce a compliance. A clear demonstration of the wisdom of the measures pursued, which were rather calculated for allowing time to the Colonies to return to reason and their duty, than for proceeding with violence against them.

I Have often complained, that it was exacting a very disagreeable tribute of the public, to force them to take notice of, and examine into, the many petty squabbles and party debates, with which our public prints are constantly stuffed. Nevertheless (contrary to my inclination) I am at present obliged to trouble the public, whilst I vindicate my character, against some slanderous aspersions, and false accusations, published in this paper, No. 2009, and signed by SAMUEL CAMPBELL. I should, before now, have answered said Campbell's unjust allegations, had I not, with the advice of some of my friends, concluded, that the infamous character of the author was such, as rendered his false publication unworthy any notice or reply; he being a person who has been publicly whipped at our Court-house, for felony, and was at the time he wrote, lying, and yet continues to lie, confined in prison. But upon finding that his false accusations had given uneasiness to some of my distant friends, who had not an opportunity of being acquainted with Campbell's character, nor of hearing the true state of the case, I have at length resolved, for the satisfaction of such, to give the following brief account of the affair. You may remember that he, in his publication, represented me as coming in a friendly manner to him, and advising him to give me a judgment bond, in order to save a piece of land, which he accordingly complied with; he further added, that I no sooner obtained the bond, than I put it in execution, and recovered the money, altho' he had never received any value for said obligation. Now so far is this from being a true representation of the case, that it was exactly as follows; I sold a Horse to one Thomas King, of Paxton, of whom the abovementioned Campbell had bought a parcel of land; King, in payment of my horse, gave me two of Campbell's bonds; but before they were discharged, Campbell was put into prison, for stealing a horse; I, perceiving that his effects were likely to be seized by his creditors, and not willing to be first in seizing of his goods, came to him, and told him, if he secured me, by giving a judgment bond instead of those I had, which were common ones, I should be contented for some time to lie out of my money, which he did accordingly, with the advice of his attorney, upon condition I should not put the same in execution for a certain time. I tarried the term agreed upon, and longer, until his land was seized upon by other creditors. For the truth of what I have now asserted, I appeal to his attorney, who acted for him at that Time, namely, Mr. Curry, now living in Reading. JAMES STARRETT. §

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

IN the Chronicle, No. 32, of Monday the 31ſt of Auguſt, I obſerved a Piece ſigned by a Man of the Name of Harriſon, which, as it takes its Riſe from the old Phariſee Leaven, and, as uſual, contains Miſrepreſentations of Facts, I muſt beg the Indulgence of the Public, while I ſtate them in their true Light.

It is ſaid, that for fifteen Years, though I have been often called upon, I have never ſettled my Account properly, or to the Satisfaction of the Veſtry. I agree I never did render any Account to the Veſtry, till ſince their Incorporation, nor did they ever call upon me for an Account till about that Time. And to ſhew how improbable it is that I ever was called upon by them, I will mention, in ſhort, how I came to be concerned in the Truſt, and will clear up the Matter.

In May, 1751, ſome Gentlemen, who were ſeized of the legal Eſtate belonging to the Church at Wicacoa, conveyed theſe Lands to myſelf and others, in Truſt for the Uſe of the Church, and ſtipulated, that, when called upon, we ſhould render an Account to them. Thoſe Truſtees alternately received the Rents, &c. for one Year, in Rotation, till for about ſeven Years paſt, when ſome dying, and others declining the Trouble, I, for the moſt Part, during ſeven Years, at the Inſtance of the other Truſtees, collected and paid away the Church Monies, agreeable to the Truſt: I every Year ballanced my Accounts, and never refuſed ſubmitting them to the Inſpection of any Perſon; how unlikely therefore is it that I ſhould be called upon for fifteen Years to ſettle my Accounts, which is very near one Year ſooner than I had any Thing to do with it, and for ſeven Years the Monies were received and paid by the other Truſtees! I do not pretend to boaſt of the Trouble I have had in this Truſt, but certain it is, I have had a great Deal in the Execution of it (and which the candid Mr. Wrangel experiences the Advantages of at preſent) and never received any further Commiſſion than what was ſtipulated about the Year 1762, being Two and a Half per Cent. which is by no Means adequate to the many Days Fatigue I have had in laying off, and letting out the Church Lands, and collecting the Rents; but inſtead thereof, there is a Ballance now in my Favour, as appears by the Certificates I have publiſhed. However, I ſhould not have murmured, as the Church is very welcome to my Services, but, after a great Deal of Trouble, with very little Profit in her Service, to be abuſed, and have Attempts made to blaſt my Reputation, is, what I call, very ungenerous Treatment.

All that I have wiſhed for in the preſent Controverſy is, that Facts were fully underſtood; but the principal Endeavour of Mr. Wrangel, and his Aſſociates, has been not to ſtate Facts truly, but in ſuch a Manner as would moſt likely fix a Stain upon my Character. In this Reſpect, our Swediſh Father acts agreeable with the Conduct of ſome of the Fathers of the Church in the Days of Yore, of whom it is ſaid, that they did not think themſelves, in their controverſial Writings, obliged to ſpeak the Truth, but that every Thing was lawful which ſerved to gain the Victory.

It ſeems, formerly, I have been charged with robbing the Church, and now another Charge is ſet up, of attempting to cheat the Parſon of £40, by altering a Receipt. It is true they have not dared to ſay it in expreſs Terms, but there are dark Inſinuations tending that Way; it may, therefore, be proper to ſtate the Fact at large, as it will plainly ſhew what Lengths theſe People (or to be more explicit, Mr. Wrangel and his Friends) will go, to carry their Favourite Point.

Mr. Lawrence Garrit, who was a joint Truſtee with me, and ſometimes received and paid away the Church Monies, on the 27th of May, 1763, paid Mr. Wrangel £2: 10s. 6*d.* and took the following Receipt, which it may be very material to publiſh, as wrote by Mr. Wrangel.

*The 27th of April * May* 1763 *received from Lawrence Garrit Fourty * two Pounds Ten Shillings and Six-pence on the Ground Rent by me*

£42. 10s. 6*d.* C. M. WRANGEL.

Upon Mr. Garrit's reporting to me, as was uſual with him, that he had paid Mr. Wrangel £2: 10s. 6*d.* I entered it accordingly, in a Book which I kept for that Purpoſe, and not £42: 10s. 6*d.* but when a Committee was appointed to examine my Accounts, Mr. Wrangel inſiſted that they ſhould be guided by the Receipts, and one of the Committee, in ſtating an Account, looking at the Bottom of his Receipt, charged £42: 10s. 6*d.* inſtead of £2: 10s. 6*d.* but, upon Re-examination, the Miſtake was diſcovered, rectified, and a Certificate accordingly given.----Is it therefore ſo very ſtrange, that from a Receipt, in the Body of which was wrote Forty two, with a Stroke through the Forty (not Four Two, as by Miſtake has been ſaid) and at the Bottom £42: 10s. 6*d.* a Perſon ſhould be led into a Miſtake of that Sort? And yet, from this Mr. Wrangel would have it believed, by his dark Inſinuations, that one of the Committee and myſelf united to cheat him out of that Sum, and that I altered the Receipt. Now, how obviouſly falſe and ungenerous muſt this Inſinuation appear, when it is known that this Receipt was taken by Mr. Garrit (whoſe Integrity Mr. Wrangel will not impeach, I truſt) that the Receipt Book at that Time, and for ſome conſiderable Time afterwards, was in the Hands of Mr. Garrit, and that the Figures at the Bottom of the Receipt, in the Opinion of every Perſon to whom I have ſhewn it, and I have ſhewn it to a great many, were wrote at the ſame Time when the Receipt was wrote, and by the ſame Perſon, to wit, You, Mr. Wrangel; and who, in all your Receipts, have put the Sum in Figures at the Bottom, ſo that the Miſtake which you, Sir, would impute to the Villainy of me and my Friend (as you call him) aroſe entirely from your blundering Manner in writing the Receipt; however, it was a pretty lucky Blunder, as it ſerved to give you an Opportunity of Wrangling. But you ſay, "it is trifling in me to pretend I could not underſtand a Receipt taken by myſelf (whereas, in Fact, it was taken by Mr. Garrit, and in his Name) for it ſeems once to be ſufficiently intelligible to me, as in my Books I have charged £2: 10s. 6*d.* without any other Receipt than this ſingle one, which was likewiſe to have paſſed for £42: 10s. 6*d.*" Now, in the firſt Place, the Entry I made in my Book was from the Report of Mr. Garrit, which was right, and not taken from the Receipt; for Mr. Garrit at that Time collected and paid away the Church Monies, and had the Receipt Book in his Keeping for ſome Time. And, in the ſecond Place, the Miſtake was made by one of the Committee, in the Manner I before related, and not by me; nor can it be ſaid, that I, by any Act of mine, ever attempted to charge you with that Sum, ſo that my underſtanding or not underſtanding the Receipt, is nothing to the Purpoſe; why, therefore, this Inſinuation? Beſides, had I intended to defraud you, is it likely I ſhould have charged you in my Book with £2: 10s. 6*d.*?---Add to this, that Mr. Garrit, who paid the Money, could at any Time have detected me; ſo that this Story will hardly gain Credit.---I would therefore adviſe you to try ſome other Scheme. As to the latter Words, 'which were likewiſe to paſs for £42: 10s. 6*d.*' I am at a Loſs to underſtand them, unleſs it be, as I ſtrongly ſuſpect it is, to inſinuate (what is untrue, and what will not be ſaid) that there was a Miſtake in charging more than one Sum of £40, otherwiſe I cannot ſee why the Word 'likewiſe' ſhould be made uſe of.

When Facts are truly ſtated, though the Inferences from them are wrong, yet there is no great Inconveniency enſues, as every Perſon may draw his own Concluſions; but when People are detected in impoſing upon the Public, and in miſ-ſtating Facts, they are certainly become unworthy of any Credit, and all their Publications ought to be ſuſpected. Mr. Wrangel, and his Abettors, boaſt and talk much of their Candour, but I muſt appeal to every impartial Perſon, whether they have not been greatly wanting in that Reſpect, not only in their former Pieces, but more eſpecially in the laſt, which is replete with Falſhoods and Miſrepreſentations. Mr. Wrangel may have ſome few Friends in the Veſtry; but this I know, that there are ſeveral worthy Gentlemen, Members thereof, who diſavow his Proceedings, and, from a proper Opinion of them and him, decline attending the Veſtry. In a Word, as I have rather been more tender of Mr. Wrangel's Character than he has been of mine, during our Controverſy, this I muſt aſſure him, that if he continues to throw out ſuch ſcandalous Inſinuations, tending to blaſt my good Name, I ſhall make as free with him in that Reſpect,---but ſhall take Care not in the leaſt to derogate from the Truth.

I am glad to find my Propoſal to have our Diſpute left to Men is accepted. I have accordingly named a Gentleman of Character, and one of the Veſtry of the Engliſh Church, and hope the Matter will be brought to a Concluſion very ſhortly.

ANDREW BANKSON.

From a late ENGLISH PAPER.

GREAT pity it is, that under the moſt perfect and wiſe laws ever made, the roads about London, and all over the kingdom, ſhould be ſo lined with ſo many poor, tho' very healthy people; the diſtreſſing and affecting cries of which, is enough to warm the uſurer into benevolence and charity, if his heart be made of penetrable ſtuff; if wicked cuſtom has not brazed it, ſo that it is proof againſt every working of ſympathy and compaſſion, when even the land of England is more than capable of producing food for 15, inſtead of 8 millions of the human ſpecies; but the fault ſeems imputable to the diſregard of the exerciſe of the law, and not the law itſelf (for it promiſes health to all) during the time proviſions are exceeding the limited price for exportation, this, together with the aſſociation of contractors, farmers, foreſtallers, and monopolizers, who live all, and amaſs fortunes, on the advanced price of proviſions, to the prejudice of our manufactures, and the evident miſery of their fellow creatures, whoſe very diſtreſſing ſituation, and the voice of millions, call aloud for immediate relief.

It is not ſo very much the ſcarcity of proviſions, but the want of money, occaſioned by the want of employment, that puts the neceſſaries of life beyond the attainment of the indigent. The cauſes of ſuch numbers being idle, for want of work, is a ſubject of ſuch importance to the true intereſt and welfare of the community, as to be worth every man's inſpecting into, who counts himſelf a friend to his country, or a lover of mankind. The human ſpecies are the riches of every country, when they can be employed in manufactures or agriculture; and if they cannot be employed, but muſt ſtarve in a dear land, what can we expect but inſurrections, confuſion, and anarchy among them? And they cannot be blamed for not ſtarving in a plentiful nation, when all endeavours prove ineffectual to get their bread honeſtly.

Who is ſo ignorant as not to know, that it is the ſcarcity of caſh in America, with reſtrictions on their trade, that have forced them, have compelled them to eſtabliſh manufactures and arts, to work up their own materials, of all ſorts, among themſelves, for their own conſumption, and ſome even for Weſt-India exportation, knowing that they are not able to pay for what Britiſh merchandize they have had, inſtead of ordering more; thus, by untimely taxes, reſtrictions, &c. they have taken courſes that they did not think of 5 years ago, and clothe upwards of two and a half millions of people themſelves, in place of the mother country, to the great loſs of the nation, and the poor in particular.

Some gentleman, in one of the papers, has acquainted the public with calculations of the American exports from this nation. I aſk the gentleman's pardon, if I do not agree with him in that article; for I will make bold to ſay, that inſtead of two and a half millions in goods, which he computes they take from us, they do not order leſs than four millions worth to the iſlands and the continent annually: For I was very well informed, that in the year 1759, they took off from us eight millions worth, whereof Philadelphia alone had to the value of eight hundred thouſand pounds worth of Britiſh manufactures; and allowing for the immenſe increaſe of the human ſpecies along the vaſt continent of North-America, and in the iſlands, even in eight years time, I ſee no reaſon why the conſumption of our goods ſhould diminiſh ſo viſibly as they have done, if they had money or trade to anſwer the payments for them, and ſupport their credit with this nation.

The French, by our neglect, have but too ſucceſsfully ingratiated themſelves with the Spaniards, to our unſpeakable loſs and detriment: The French Court are at no pains to limit their ſubjects in a trade, ſo beneficial to the mother country; they have never kept ſquadrons of men of war to guard their merchantmen from trading with the Spaniards in the Gulf of Mexico; nor have they been impoliticly vigilant, and ſcrupulouſly exact, in preſerving an article in the laſt treaty, that was never intended to have been prejudicial to the ſubject, but to amuſe the Spaniards. This was not the conduct of that politic people, even ſurpaſſing the Dutch in traffic; no, but on the contrary, they invited, careſſed, and aſſiſted the Spaniards to diſpoſe of their goods, and take their ſilver in return; and I will venture to ſay, that one million gained by trade and manufactures, is of more ſervice to the nation, than the free gift of four million, without any kind of return, would be.

England, by proper encouragement, might enable the Americans to pay for her manufactures, by their continental produce, and what exceeded our conſumption, the Europeans would come into our ports and carry away; this would be putting it in the Americans power to evince the integrity of their intentions with reſpect to diſcharging their debts, which does not a little affect the Britiſh merchants; it would divert them from manufacturing, which if they are not diſcouraged in, will invite all mechanics to go over, and eſtabliſh, by degrees, every branch of trade, that at preſent languiſh here, by their attempts to rival us in them; and this there is very great reaſon to dread from circumſtances, from the vaſt number of labourers that go there, the ſcarcity of caſh which will naturally reduce wages, and from the great abundance of the neceſſaries of life that the ſoil produces in a manner ſpontaneouſly.

I am perſuaded this is very well known to the conſiderate and experienced who have ſeen America; and I heartily wiſh, for the welfare of theſe kingdoms, that theſe conjectures are not found experimentally true: A declenſion of our trade to the colonies, and their own independance, would be of more ſervice to the French, in their indefatigable and ambitious purſuit of univerſal monarchy, than an alliance with both Spain and Portugal to overthrow us, would be. And our trade, when duly cultivated, will be always an uncorruptible, powerful, ſteady friend, and much better to truſt in it, than to put any faith in princes.

How many examples for our ſafety and welfare are every where ſurrounding us? But are we not blind, at leaſt extremely indolent? Do not the Dutch, to their amazing riches and ſtrength, point out the herring Fiſhery, that noble gift of Providence, deſigned for the plenty and protection of this iſle? What a nurſery would it be for ſeamen! what a relief to our poor, at ſea and on ſhore, in net making, &c. and what a very great national revenue would it bring in, as well to us as the Dutch, were it but generally and ſpiritedly followed? The herring, cod, and whale fiſheries, would afford the nation a ſurer and greater balance in trade than all the commerce of Europe does at preſent, and would put us in a better poſture of defence againſt our inſincere friends, and inveterate and natural enemies; it would infallibly give us the maſtery of the ſeas, and make the Britiſh flag reſpected wherever it ſhould appear.

Great-Britain is as a great merchant, and where ſhe cannot vend her commodities in one place, ſhe ought to find out another, and be conſtantly induſtrious for the ſupport of her inhabitants. From ſome unhappy differences between the mother country and her colonies, it is plain the demands for our manufactures have ceaſed: Let us, until this diſagreeable bar is removed, ſtrenuouſly encourage our fiſheries to the utmoſt extent, and even ſhare thoſe riches of our own with the Dutch, that have afforded them more wealth and ſafety, than all their mighty Eaſt-India commerce has done, and can, of all things under the ſun, come the neareſt to be an equivalent to this nation, for the apparent decay of our plantation trade.

A Lover of my Country, and a Friend to the Poor.

Captain Keld, from the Grenades, on the ſecond Inſtant, in Lat. 25: 30, ſpoke the Sloop Charlotte, Captain Alboy, from New-York for the Weſt-Indies, out 24 Days, all well; and on the 11th, in Lat. 36, Long. 72, he ſpoke a Schooner bound to New-York from Penſacola, but being in the Night, and paſſing
